

Adaska Labs Ltd.

An irregular report on life, projects, and ongoing operations for friends, family, and other interested parties.

ISSUE
VOL 1

REPORTING PERIOD
AUGUST 2026

PUBLISHED
SEPTEMBER 1, 2026

A Note From Me

August was a wild month filled with heat, celebrations, projects, and major changes.

Work at the post office remained intense in the summer heat, but I pushed through and survived to see another day to deliver America’s mail. August also marked the end of my time with the postal service. I secured a new position with an HOA management company and will begin this next chapter on September 17. I am excited about spending less of my day inside a mobile toaster.

We also celebrated Summer’s birthday and her departure from her job. That has meant more time for water activities, concerts, and sports ball games, which provided a welcome balance to the chaos of the month.

I switched from a Garmin watch to an Oura Ring for activity and wellness tracking. In addition to providing a new collection of health data for me to obsess over, the change gives me an opportunity to repair my watch tan line, the only remaining physical evidence that I am, in fact, white.

I also began building a web app for our Smokey Meat Sunday football gatherings. What started as a useful side project became a grueling and time consuming endeavor. Progress has been substantial, although it has consumed enough of my attention that Summer nearly cut me off.

At the Gracie Castle Compound, Gracie is doing well. She continues to fart at an alarming rate and dig up the yard with little regard for property values.

The Plant Daddy division now oversees more than 20 plants and trees. Some have thrived, some have died, and others remain under active performance review. The division leveraged Las Vegas winnings to fund strategic asset upgrades, including a new to me lawn mower and a smart irrigation controller. With better equipment, improved data, and automated watering, I may occasionally manage to keep something alive.

August was demanding, but it brought celebrations, new projects, and the beginning of an important career transition. September should bring an entirely new adventure.

David B. Adaska

FOUNDER AND ONLY OFFICER ON STAFF
ADASKA LABS LTD.

AUGUST IN REVIEW

- 01 Career change
New chapter begins September 17.
- 02 Summer celebrations
Went to drive through animal encounter.
- 03 Major build
Smokey Meat Sunday entered development.
- 04 Compound upgrades
New mower and smart irrigation joined the portfolio.

PHOTO OF THE MONTH

Project Updates

A concise account of active work, recent progress, and the next measurable milestone.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

SMS

Smokey Meat Sunday

90% COMPLETE

THIS MONTH

Completed approximately 90% of the web app’s development.

NEXT MILESTONE

Complete the final audit and launch the beta version.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

PD

Plant Daddy

MONITORING

THIS MONTH

One plant was lost. The rest of the portfolio continues to thrive, survive, or remain under observation.

NEXT MILESTONE

Acquire additional clearance plants from Walmart.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

LS

Landscaping

NEEDS TLC

THIS MONTH

The backyard has accumulated a substantial maintenance backlog and is in desperate need of attention.

NEXT MILESTONE

Complete a full round of landscaping maintenance across the front and back yards.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

RG

Yearly Reading Goal

38 / 50

THIS MONTH

Read or listened to six books, bringing the yearly total to 38 of 50.

NEXT MILESTONE

Complete at least five books in September.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

AM

Spectrum AM Onboarding

READY TO START

THIS MONTH

Completed all required pre-employment and pre-start onboarding steps.

NEXT MILESTONE

Begin the new position on September 17.

PROJECT PORTFOLIO

WT

Wrist Watch Tan Line

IN PROGRESS

THIS MONTH

August produced a measurable increase in tan coverage and a corresponding decrease in visible whiteness.

NEXT MILESTONE

Complete the gradual blending of skin tone at the wrist where the watch used to live.

Future Endeavors

Upcoming events, planned projects, and questions entering the Adaska Labs pipeline.

COMING UP

The calendar

SEPTEMBER 4

Final day at the post office
Closing out mail operations and the mobile toaster era.

SEPTEMBER 5

UT Longhorns opener + SMS beta test
Football returns and live user testing begins.

SEPTEMBER 10

Turtle Racing at Little Woodrow's
An evening of elite reptilian athletics.

SEPTEMBER 13

NFL opener: Chargers vs. Cardinals
The Smokey Meat Sunday web app officially goes live.

SEPTEMBER 17

Spectrum AM start date
The next professional chapter officially begins.

SEPTEMBER 19

The J's wedding
Ceremony in Georgetown, followed by party operations in the Domain.

PLANNED PROJECTS

Next in the pipeline

01 Adaska Labs Demo Portfolio

Build a public showcase for Adaska Labs web apps.

02 Stove Grate Restoration

Reseason the stove grates to restore their finish, appearance, and performance.

Frequently Adaska'd Questions

INVESTOR RELATIONS, MINUS THE INVESTORS

- What happens after the post office?

I begin a new role with Spectrum AM on September 17 and return to HOA management.
- When does Smokey Meat Sunday go live?

Beta testing begins September 5, with the full launch planned for September 13.
- How can I become a beta tester?

Founding Smokey Meat Sunday members and a pre-selected group will serve as beta testers. Once the Adaska Labs demo site is online, anyone who visits will be able to submit additional feedback.
- What is Adaska Labs building next?

A public demo portfolio for the web apps and experiments developed under the Adaska Labs banner.
- Is the watch tan line recovering?

Early indicators are positive; full wrist-tone integration remains the next milestone.

How you can help

Send beta feedback, project ideas, clearance-plant leads, or anything else requiring unnecessary optimization.